> Gentlemen:—Having made a particular examination of Goodrich's "History of Ail Nations," I am free to say, that I know of no work, great or small, that contains half the amount of useful and entertaining matter for family reading. It is written in Mr. Goodrich's best tyle. It is a library, a historical library of itself; and it is worth, according to the usual cost of good reading, two or three times the money you ask for it. It is no wonder that you have to keep a power press running constantly to supply the orders for these volumes; for the public have only to know their value to make them a universal want with all classes.

THE TWO HOMES.

Two men on their way home, met a a street. crossing, and then walked on together. They were neighbors and friends.

"This has been a very hard day," said Mr. Freenan, in a gloomy voice. And as they walked homeward they discouraged each other, and made darker the clouds that obscured their whole

"Good evening," was at last said hurriedly; and the two men passed into their homes.

Mr. Walcott entered the room where his wife and children were gathered, and without speaklng to any one seated himself in a chair, and leaning his head back, closed his eyes. His countenance wore a sad, weary, exhausted look. He had been seated thus for only a few minutes, when his wife said in a fearful voice:

"More trouble again." "What is the matter now?" asked Mr. Walcott, almost starting.

"John has been sent home from school." "What?" Mr. Walcott partly rose from his

"Up in his room; I sent him there as soon as he came home. You'll have to do something with him. He'll be ruined if he goes on in this way. I'm out of all heart with him."

Mr. Walcott, excited as much by the manner in which his wife conveyed unpleasant informa-tion as by the information itself, started up, under the blind impulse of the moment, and going to the room where John had been sent on coming home from school, punished the boy severely, and this without listening to the ex-planations which the poor child tried to make him hear.

"Father," said the boy, with forced calmness, after the cruel stripes had ceased: "I wasn't to blame, and if you will go with me to the teach er, I can prove myself innocent."

Mr. Walcott had never known his son to tell an untruth, and the words fell with a rebuke upon his heart.

"Very well, we will see about that," he an swered, with forced sterness; and leaving the room he went down stairs, feeling much more uncomfortable than when he went up. Again he seated himself in his large chair, and again leaned back his weary head and closed his heavy evelids. Sadder was his face than before. As he sat thus, his eldest daughter, in her sixteenth year came and stood by him. She held a paper in her hand.
"Father;" he opened his eyes; "here's my quarter's bill. Can't I have the money to take to school with me in the morning?"

"I am afraid not," answered Mr. Walcott,

"It is mortifying," said Mrs. Walcott, a little sharply; "and I don't wonder that Ilelen feels somoyed about it. The bill has to be paid, and I don't see why it may not be done as well first

To this Mr. Walcott made no answer. The After a silence of some moments, Mrs. Walcott said:

"The coals are all gone."
"Impossible!" Mr. Walcott raised his head

Mr. Walcott returned to his chair, and again seating himself, leaned back his head and closed his eyes as at first. How sad, and weary, and hope less he felt! The burdens of the day had seem ed almost too heavy for him; but he had borne up bravely. To guther strength for a renewed with adverse circumstances, he had come home. Alas! that the process of exhaustion should still go on-that where only strength

When the tea bell was rung, Mr. Walcott made no movement to obey the summons. "Come 10 supper," said his wife, coldly.

But he did not stir. "Are you not coming to supper?" she called to him, as she was leaving the room.

"I don't wish for anything this evening. My head aches very much," he answered.
"In the dumps again," muttered Mrs. Walcott to herself. "It's as much as one's life is worth to ask for money, or to say anything is wanted.' And she kept on her way to the dining-room. When she returned her husband was still sisting where she had left him. "Shall I bring you a cup of tea?" she asked. "No, I don't wish for anything." "What's the matter, Mr. Walcott? What do you look so troubled about, as if you hadn't a friend in the world? What have I done to

There was no answer, for there was not a shade of real sympathy in the voice that made the queries, but rather of querelous dissatisfac-tion. A few moments Mrs. Walcott stood be hind her husband, but as he did not seem in clined to answer questions, she turned away from him, and resumed the employment which had been interrupted by the ringing of the tea

The whole evening passed without the occur rence of a single incident that gave a healthful pulsation to the sick heart of Mr. Walcott. No thoughtful kindness was manifested by any member of the family; but on the contrary, a narrow regard for self, and a looking to him only that he might supply the means of self gratifiea-

Let us look in for a few moments upon Mr. Freeman, a friend and neighbor of Mr. Walcott. He, also, had come home weary, dispirited and cinnati Gazette.

Mr. Freeman could not trust himself to answer. He was too deeply troubled in spirit to assume at the moment a cheerful tone, and he had no wish to sadden the hearts that loved him, letting the depression from which he was suffering become too clearly apparent. But the eyes of Mrs. Freeman saw quickly below the

Scarcely was Mr. Freeman seated ere a pair of hands was busy with each foot, removing gaiter and shoes and supplying their place with a soft slipper. There was not one in the household who did not feel happier for his return, nor one who did not seek to render him some kind

It was impossible, under such a burst of heart-sunshine, for the spirit of Mr. Freeman long to remain shrouded. Almost imperceptibly to him-self gloomy thoughts gave place to more cheer ful ones, and by the time tea was ready, he had half forgotten the fears which had so haunted him through the day.
But they could not be held back altogether, and their existence was marked during the evening by an unusual silence and abstraction of mind. This was observed by Mrs. Freeman, who, more thau half suspecting the cause, kept back from her husband the knowledge of certain matters about which she had intended to speak to him, for she feared they would add to his mental dis quietude. During the evening she gleaned from something he said the real cause of his changed aspect. At once her thoughts commenced run-ning in a new channel. By a few leading re-marks she drew her husband into conversation on the subject of home expenses and the propriety of restriction in various points. Many things were mutually pronounced superfluous and easily to be dispensed with, and before sleep fell soothingly on the heavy cyclids of Mr. Freeman that night an entire change in their style of liv iug had been determined upon-a change that would reduce their expenses at least one half. "I see light ahead," were the hopeful words of Mr. Freeman, as he resigned himself to slum With renewed strength of mind and body and a confident spirit he went forth the next day—a day that he had looked forward to with fear and trembling. And it was only through this re newed strength and confident spirit that he was able to overcome the difficulties that loomed up, mountain high, before him. Weak despondency would have ruined all. Home had proved his tower of strength-his walled city. Strengthen ed for the conflict, he had gone forth again into the world and conquered in the struggle.

"I see light ahead," gave place to "The morning breaketh!"—Orange Blossoms.

The daughter spoke fretfully. Mr. of the capital indulging in endless jokes at its Walcott waved her aside with his hand, and she expense. The last joke is to this effect: expense. A FREAK OF NATURE .- Mr. Vestal yesterday requested us to go to the Commercial Hotel to see a rare lusus natura. He has a girl who has answered Mrs. Walcott, rather tartly. How "George" became a Tectotaler.

A short time since, a young man living in Og densburgh, N. Y., whose name we shall call George, took to drinking rather more than usual, and some of his friends endeavered to cure him. One day, when he was in rather a loose condition, they got him in a room, and commenced conversing about delirium tremens, directing all their remarks to hlm, and telling him what fear ful objects, such as snakes and rats, were always seen by the victims of this horrible disease.— When the conversation had waxed high on this theme, one of the number stepped out of the room, and from a trap which was at hand let a large rat into the room. None of his friends ap peared to see it, but the young man who was to be the victim seized a chair and hurled it at the rat, completely using up the piece of furniture in the operation. Another chair shared the same fate, when his friends seized him, and with terror depicted on their faces, demanded to know what was the matter.

"Why, don't you see that cursed big rat?" said he pointing to the animal, which, after the manner of rats, was making his way round the room, lose to the walls.

They all saw it, but all replied that they didn't "there was no rat." "But there is!" sald he, as another chair went to pieces in an ineffectual attempt to crush the ob-

BROKE JAIL .- On Sunday night last, four prisoners confined in our country jail, one charged with larceny, two recently arrested for passing counterfeit money, and a runaway negro, made others in the rooms above. The ceiling of the lower rooms is composed of wide joists placed about five inches apart, lathed and plastered underneath and floored above. Placing the mattress. es and bed clothing against the doors, so as to prevent the escape of smoke and intercept the oise, they knocked off a portion of the plaster ing and the flooring above and set fire to the joists. These were suffered to burn until the space between two of them was sufficiently wide to enable the two prisoners below to pass through, when the fire was extinguished. Having reached the upper rooms the rest was easy enough. A hole was made in the brick wall, above one of the windows, in the same place, and the same manner in which Owsley escaped last Spring. A rope made of blankets tied together let them into the yard, the wall of which, on the inside, is by no means difficult to climb. Once on top, the blankets were again put in requisition to let them safely down into the street. Four cart horses, belonging to as many Irishmen in town were missing next morning and were, no doubt, taken by the fugitives to aid their flight.

The negro man belonging to Mr John Lari more, of Madison co., who had just arrived to re claim him. One of the white men, named Cox, was charged with stealing a railroad ticket. CONVERTING THE EDUCATED HINDOO .- People n this country cannot appreciate the extreme becue, passed through this city on Saturday, in charge of a St. Louis policeman. They were improbability, I might almost say impossibility, of the conversion of a high caste Hindoo. As for arguing with a Hindoo of intelligence, it is like using cannon against Hindoo earth works. The tract of land contains, by survey in 1785, 1600 acres, and is the first tract of land above the junction of the North and South Forks of the Kentucky river, and is bounded on the north by the North Fork, and on the south by the South Fork of said river.

The improvements are extensive, consisting of six comfortable houses for coiliers, with kitchen and disting room, convenient to coal pits, foreman's hewed log-dwelling house, with necessary out buildings—effect distances to the coal pits. There is about 6:6 yards of entry driven in the coal plank—about one-third of which has solid coal on both sides, and one-third with the ribs on both sides. The entry has a diest rate railroad track for coal cars the entire length. Twenty coal cars complete, TRINITY BAY, Oct. 18.
To Peter Cooper, Esq., for the Directors of the Atlantic Telegraph Company, New York: I regret to say that the preconcerted signals arranged by Mr. Thompson, have failed to clicit any improvement in the reception of signals here. I do not know if any improvement has coal cars the entire length. Twenty coal cars complete and all the necessary mining implements to work twen taken place at Valentia. I commence repeating the same system on Wednesday next.

WEDNESDAY,OCTOBER 20, 1858. Dr Elder W. T. Moore, pastor of the Christian Church, will deliver another discourse this evening, at 7 o'clock. Subject-"What is the True Church of Christ."

The Democrat alluding to a statement made in this paper that Mr. Crittenden had expressed a desire for the re-election of Mr. Douglas to the Senate of the United States, hazards this re

"What "warrant" there may be for such assertion, we of course, know not; but a gentleman who is known to be upon the most intimate terms with Mr. Crittenden, assures us that it is false, from first to last. We can add, that from personal conversations had with Mr. C., not one month since, we are persuaded that such is not the case, as all his remarks placed him in affiliation with the opposition, and zealous for its tri-umph throughout tho nation. We do not attach the importance to individual opinions in this contest which the Republican does, but still it is due to Mr. C., that we should make this state-

Now, we have to say in reply to this paragraph, that a gentleman of this city—one who has been on intimate terms with Mr. Crittenden for a life-time-did bear from Mr. Crittenden's own lips, not three weeks since, the avowal that he was strongly desirous for the re-election of Judge Douglas to the Senate, at the coming election—paying at the same time the highest compliment to the integrity and the patriotism of Senator Douglas. We do not know who the "we" is that had "personal conversations with Mr. C., not a month since," and who states that 'all his remarks placed him in affiliation with the opposition, and zealous for its triumph throughout the nation," but we venture the as sertion, founded ppon his well known character Critteuden does not "affiliate" with Black Republicanism in any of its forms, and that he does not desire the success of that party in this nation. He would go as far as any man in the Senate to put down the vile heresy—he is a National man, and not a sectional one, and this, of itself, would determine him to oppose that party .- St. Louis Republican.

We copy the above from one of the most re we commend it to the attention of the lesser lights in Kentucky which are continually repeatlng the foul calumny, that Mr. Crittenden sympathises with the Black Republicans. It is true, as the Republican remarks, that "Mr. Crittenden does not affiliate with Black Republicanism in any of its forms and that he does not desire the success of that party in this nation." But it is equally true that Mr. Crittenden does not desiro the continuation in power of the corrupt and profligate organization which now rules the country. "He is a national man," and that Is the very reason why he will with all his strength strike high at the crests of those who lately eudeavored to force Kansas into the Union under a Constitution hated and detested by her people, and threatened secession as the result of a refu sal on the part of Cougress to sanction the lniquity proposed by Mr. Buchanan. Politicians may be assured that Mr. Crittenden will never be found joining in a sectional war waged by one part of the Union against the other. He would far rather "compromise" all such jealousies than urge them on.

The Democracy in Illinois are anxious to use Mr. Crittenden's name in that State in favor of their champion, while the Democracy of Kentucky bitterly condemn him. The testimony of Northern Democrats flatly contradicts their Southern brethren. The Republican Is a violent pro-slavery paper, but yet has the fairness to repudiate the charges brought against Mr. Crittenden. Whether or not the Republican would do so were it not for the hope of aiding Mr. Douglas by such candor, is auother question, and one which we shall not try to answer. At any rate, our venerable Senator's or deemed of much importance in the Illinois can-

IJJ. GLANCEY JONES has been appointed minister to Austria. This is his reward for having betrayed his constituents by deserting the principles upon which he was elected. He endeavored to save himself by assuring the tariff Democrats of his district that he could induce the Southern Democracy to protect the iron interests of that State, even although they might refuse to protect the products of their own section against foreign competition; but having been deceived once, they could place no confidence in him. "The burnt child shuns the fire." We suppose that the free trade Democracy will be well satisfied with the appointment.

SEWING MACHINES .- We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Mr. C. A. CLARKE, agent for SLOAT's Sewing Machines, to be found in another column; and while we are not prepared to endorse all that is claimed for these machines, having only made a hasty examination of them, still we can say we believe them to be good machines, and we understand that the company warrants them for three years; if so, a pur chaser can lose nothing, for a good sewing machine will pay much more than its cost, in the saving of labor and time, before the three years expire. We can say for Mr. CLARKE that he is a clever gentleman, and we believe he will fulfill any promise he makes to those who buy of him. We know that the "Wheeler & Wilson" machine is a very superior one, from personal experience, and, if this machine of Sloat's, is at all equal to that, it is a good machine. The principle of this machine ls very similar to "Wheeler & Wilson's," and whether the slight variations are advantageous or not, we cannot say. The stitch is alike on both sides of the cloth, as is that made by Wheeler & Wilson's machine. We are decidedly in favor of every person, who has a fainily, having a sewing machine of some kind, and all we can say to them is, examino both tho kinds mentioned, and choose for yourself.

CHICAGO, ILLS., Oct. 13, 1858. Col. A. G. Hodges:

DEAR SIR—I have recent and reliable infor mation from La Crescent to the effect, that all the agreements and arrangements entered into when you were up, in regard to the location of the track of the Southern Minnesota Railroad within the limits of La Crescent, the point agreed upon for depot grounds, and other mat-ters pertaining to the location and construction of this road to suit the interests of the town, have all been perfected and permanently settled—the necessary papers in testimony of the several agreements being duly signed and recorded; and am assured by gentlemen who reside there, that the agreements thus entered into suit the views and wishes of tho citizens exactly—that the gentlemanly Directors, Messrs. Wells, Kneeland & Pringle, (the locating committee for this road,) have, with great eleverness and liberality, so located their road in the vicinity, as well as within the limits, and their depots at the termin us, as will best suit and promote the growing interests of the place.

I saw a gentleman a few days ago, who re sides in La Crescent, (a merchant there,) he in formed me that he left La Crescent the day before, that the Railroad Company had gone vigprougly to work, and that a number of men we then busily engaged in throwing up a grade for the road from the terminus at the river across the lowland, west. That Chamberlain, the great contractor of the Northwest, who built sixty odd niles of the La Crosse and Milwaukie Railroad this summer, (in the face of the severest time of the depression in money matters.) had taker the contract for building the whole road from La Crescent to the intersection with the Winona Trausit Railroad, that his whole immense force, lately employed npon the La Crosse and Mil waukie Railroad, was to be thrown at once up on this line; and that he expected confidently to complete twenty miles of the road, from La Crescent west, ready for the iron, this fall. Chamberlain takes the bonds of the State of Minnesota, based upon tho lands donated by Congress for his pay, and he must complete twenty miles f the work before getting the first instalment.
The La Crossc and Milwaukie Railroad is now

ompleted and in full operation, pouring in a stream of passengers to this point on the Mis spectable Democratic papers in the West, and sissippi daily; arrangements are being made at La Crescent to establish a line of stages, for the convenience of those going west, to run tempo rarily, until the Southern Minnesota Railroad shall be completed. The effect of these improvements; the com pletion of the Milwaukie and La Crosse Road and the location and vigorous prosecution of the work upon the Southern Minnesota Railroad, is of course already being sensibly felt at La Crescent. Business has increased, new stores have opened, population is coming in, lots have advanced in price, and sales have commenced being made at the advanced prices, and every one seems sanguine of the rapid growth and prosperity of the place. I have always be-lieved this to be the best town in the Northwest; the safest for investment; the surest to succeed. Its position upon the Mississippi makes it the key to all Southern Minnesota,—an immeuse, an exceedingly fertile country, the most beautiful perhaps in the Northwest, is directly tributa-ry to it, and this is the best and most reliable ndorsement after all. Its geographical position is such that there can be no successful rivalry while the expensive and extended system of improvements which has already been drawn to it by the natural advantages which it possesses, not only determines its superiority of location, but must contribute greatly to its immediate growth, as well as permanent success.

I think there can be no doubt, that it will be the largest town on the Upper Mississippi be-tween Dubuque and St. Paul. It has a greater extent of country tributary to it, than either of hese prosperous cities; and standing as it does vithout the possibility of successful rivalry, it is fair to infer that within the next ten years, will be at least equal in population to what either of these cities are at present.

The proprietor of this paper made a trip to the Upper Mississippi in August last, and visited La Crescent among other places. The town is beautifully situated upon a level plateau, some thirty feet above the highest water of the Mississippi-this plateau furnishes amy room for a large city. There is said to be no other eligible slte for a town on the west bank of the Mississippi within fifty miles of this place; and no other point of easy access to the river from the interior of the country on both sides, so as to form a natural passway, or route of travel, east and west, for more than one hundred miles up and down the river. It seems therefore to be the key to the extensive country west of it; said to be remarkably fertile, and as a consequence, rapidly acquiring a dense population. The railways of this new and vigorous section of country, running east and west, through Wisconsin and Minnesota, converge to this point, as the great natural gateway and future thoroughfare of travel, across the Mississippi from Lako Michigan Pacificward.

For these reasons-and they seem to the Crescent claim that their town is destined speedily to become, under the invariable laws of commerce and trade, the leading commercial point for the entire country west of it, and hence must rapidly increase in population, in wealth, and in all the elements of a prosperous and growing

The writer had the pleasure while at La Crescent, of making the acquaintance of Mr. Wells, the able President of the Southern Minnesota Railroad Company, and also of Messra. Kneeland & Pringle, two of the most efficient and leading Directors. It gives him pleasure here, to bear testimony to the courtesy, intelligence, and sociability of these gentlemen. Mr. Knee land has been the lending spirit, through whose energy and admirable management the long line of railway from Milwaukie to La Crosse has Opposition. Liptic Sewing Machine Triumphant!

Liptic Sewing Machine Triumphant!

THESE Machines have been on exhibition at the Louisville Mechanics' Fair for the past six weeks, contending with Wheeler & Wilson's Celebrated Machine, and many others, for the prize. After thorough examination, by competent Judges, the premium was awarded to Sloat's Machines, and now we notice the acknowledgment of the defeated party to the Justice of the award, by the sudden and material reduction in the price of the defeated Machines.

Sloat's Machines have been introduced in Kentucky since July last; since which time they have rapidly gained in public layor, and such is now the demand for them, in consequence of their superiority and low price, that the manufacturers at Philadelphia are turning out 200 per week, and the demand on fully met.

There is no other Sowing Machine now before the public that will carry the heavy, or the light thread, perferince qually well an the thickest and heaviest, or light selfabric, and which has entire freedom from that painful and never-lo-b-forgatten trouble, called the padit les very simple and strong in its construction, offered at the low price of $50, and warranted to perform perfectly for three years.

Roirence given to all persons using Wheeler & Wilson's Machines, if not prejudiced. It will give me great pleasure to show these Machines to all persons desirons to purchase or examine a Sewing Machine that will not yex and trouble them in its performance.

Rheumatism Cured!

Not less than about twenty thousand cases, of this painful and paralyzing disease, have already been cured by the use of Dr. Mortimore's celebrated remedy. These comprise cases of every seeming form of the disease, from those of a recent Inflammatory (acute) character, to old Chronic cases of ten, twenty, and even thirty years standing, and this after the patients had lone been given up as incurable by eminent physicians. Some had taken voynges at sea, spent years of residence in the most salubrious climes, visited the various "Water Cure" establishments, and celebrated Springs, both in this country and Eurone, vet had still remained cripples, until they used this remedy, and by its use have been restored to health. This is a vegetable-internal remedy, prepared and recommended for this one disease alone. This it cures, and is perfectly safe to be used in any state of health, even by the most delicate female or child. Evidence of the highest possible character from physicians, clergyman and others, is published in behalf of this remedy, such as to give it character with every intelligent or reflecting mind. This evidence will be furnished to any address desired. The medicine is sold at $5 per $5, or when sent by mail fifly cents additional for postage.
